

Congress of the United States

Washington, DC 20515

August 28, 2025

The Honorable Pamela J. Bondi
Attorney General
U.S. Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20530

The Honorable Kash Patel
Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
935 Pennsylvania Ave, NW
Washington, DC 20535

Dear Attorney General Bondi and Director Patel:

We write with serious concerns about recent reports indicating that the Department of Justice (DOJ) is shuttering its Public Integrity Section¹ and dissolving a Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) squad focused on public corruption.² These moves follow the Trump Administration's decisions to shut down or otherwise scale back enforcement of laws that prohibit corruption³ and white-collar crime.⁴ DOJ's refusal to enforce anti-corruption laws betrays the public trust and will create lasting harm to Americans' faith in the integrity of government officials.

While many Americans may not be familiar with DOJ's Public Integrity Section, this division plays a critical role in investigating and prosecuting violators of public corruption laws.⁵ Since Watergate,⁶ the Public Integrity Section has secured convictions of public officials who engage in corruption.⁷ The Section operates with prosecutorial independence and brings cases without regard to political party. These prosecutors—charged with carrying out politically sensitive investigations and legal actions against public officials—play an essential role in administering the laws impartially and holding elected officials and other public servants accountable.

But under your leadership and at President Trump's direction, the Public Integrity Section has been gutted and its independence eroded. Reports suggest that the division has had its headcount slashed from more than 30 attorneys down to just four or five.⁸ The Section has also been stripped of its authority to file new cases, leaving a critical gap in enforcement of federal anti-corruption laws.⁹ Several ongoing cases are now “in limbo,” or have been dropped by DOJ,¹⁰ letting alleged lawbreakers off the hook. And the Public Integrity Section remains leaderless since the wave of resignations—including by the acting head of the Section—following the Department’s decision to dismiss a pending corruption case against the New York City mayor.¹¹ These appear to be the actions of an administration that has no concern about—or that even welcomes—corrupt acts by public officials.

Equally concerning are reports that DOJ’s Public Integrity Section has been sidelined in its typical role approving potential cases against members of Congress that are brought by regional U.S. Attorneys, a process that has helped ensure that such sensitive cases are legitimate and not politically motivated.¹² As one former attorney for the Public Integrity Section put it, “[t]he reason you have the section is exactly what this administration says they want, which is [to] stop politicization.”¹³

The work of the Section has been supported by an “elite” squad of federal agents within the FBI who investigate public corruption.¹⁴ Like the Public Integrity Section, that FBI unit is now being disbanded.¹⁵ This FBI squad has helped uncover corrupt and unethical acts by elected members of both parties, as well as lobbyists and other government employees.¹⁶ Many of their investigations have resulted in federal prosecutions, including of two Democratic congressmen and a lobbyist who engaged in an unprecedented influence peddling campaign with Republican representatives in Congress and officials in the Bush administration.¹⁷ But now the squad is being dissolved and its members fired or reassigned to other units that do not focus on public corruption—including entirely unrelated topics such as immigration.¹⁸

By shuttering the public corruption work of both the FBI and DOJ, you and President Trump are giving the green light to would-be lawbreakers. This is just part of the Trump Administration's creation of a two-tiered system of justice—one for large corporations¹⁹ and President Trump's wealthy friends,²⁰ and another for everyone else.

The damage of these actions is compounded by the fact that they are occurring in the midst of an unprecedented wave of corruption in the Trump Administration.²¹ President Trump has used the power of the presidency to enrich himself by creating pay-to-play crypto schemes,²² accepting a $400 million gift from a foreign government,²³ issuing pardons to major donors,²⁴ and more. Some of his top officials—many of whom are former lobbyists and billionaire CEOs—have serious financial conflicts of interest,²⁵ or appear to have used their powerful positions for their personal benefit,²⁶ not in the best interests of the American people. Robust, independent investigations into public corruption are needed now more than ever to shore up Americans' waning trust in the integrity of their representatives and public officials.

To address our grave concerns about your decision to effectively legalize corruption and politicize prosecutorial decisions, we request answers to the following questions by September 5, 2025:
